"The experiments which form the basis of this work were carried out during Prof. Wilfarth's lifetime. His death occurring suddenly on 27th Nov. 1904 precluded the preparation and publication of the work from being supervised by the deceased himself. Therefore Dr. G. Wimmer undertook the task of compiling and editing the results of the experiments in accordance with the wishes of the late Prof. Wilfarth." Signed: B. L. Emslie (p. 1)

Ordered published by the Board of chosen freeholders of Hudson county.
The basis of the work is the manuscript Field book prepared in 1764–1765 by commissioners appointed by the legislature of New Jersey "for finally settling and determining the several rights, titles & claims to the common lands of the township of Bergen."
The atlas includes facsimiles of the map (in 3 parts) made to accompany the Field book of 1764–1765, also facsimile of the map made to accompany the Field book of 1764–1765.

The Confederate capital and Hood's Texas brigade, by Mrs. A. V. Winkler ... Austin [Tex.] E. Von Boeckmann, 1894.

xvi, 312 p. 2 pl., 8 port. 23½cm.

The brigade was organized in 1861, under command of J. B. Hood. It consisted originally of the 1st, 4th and 5th Texas infantry, the 18th Georgia infantry and Hampton's South Carolina legion. In Oct. 1862, the 3d Arkansas infantry was substituted for the two organizations last named. Hood's Texas brigade association consists almost entirely of members of the three Texas regiments.

The glorious progress of the gospel, amongst the Indians in New England. Manifested by three letters, under the hand of that famous instrument of the Lord Mr. John Eliot, and another from Mr. Thomas Mayhew jun: both preachers of the word, as well to the English as Indians in New England. Wherein the riches of Gods grace in the effectuall calling of many of them is cleared up: as also a manifestation of the hungering desires of many people in sundry parts of that country, after the more full revelation of the gospel of Jesus Christ, to the exceeding consolation of every Christian reader. Together, with an appendix to the foregoing letters, holding [Winslow, Jacques Bénigne,] 1669–1760.

The uncertainty of the signs of death, and the danger of precipitate interments and dissections, demonstrated, I. From the known laws of the animal oeconomy. II. From the structure of the parts of the human body. And, III. From a great variety of amusing and well-attested instances of persons who have return'd to life ... With plain directions, both for preventing such accidents, and repairing the misfortunes brought upon the constitution by them. To the whole is added, a curious and entertaining account of the funeral solemnities of many ancient and modern nations, exhibiting the precautions they made use of to ascertain the certainty of death. "The 21st report was the first published in separate pamphlet form. Previous to 1887 only the annual report of the executive committee was printed, the numbering being that of the report, and not of the annual meeting at which it was presented ... But commencing with 1887 (the 34th annual meeting) the Proceedings of the meeting were printed together with all the reports and papers presented thereat, and the publication took on the number of the meeting. This accounts for the apparent hiatus between the 32d annual report (1886) and the Proceedings of the 34th annual meeting (1887). These respective publications are consecutive."—List of publications, 1903.

But commencing with 1887 (the thirty-fourth annual meeting) the Proceedings of the meeting were printed, together with all the reports and papers presented thereat, and the publication took on the number of the meeting. This accounts for the apparent hiatus between the thirty-second annual report (1886) and the Proceedings of the thirty-fourth annual meeting (1887). These respective publications are consecutive."—List of publications, 1902.

1927/28 (v. 57) Combined annual reports of the Wisconsin state horticultural society, for the years ending July 1, 1927 and July 1, 1928 (57th–58th annual reports)
The society was originally organized in 1853 as Wisconsin fruit growers' association; notices and reports were published in Transactions of the Wisconsin state agricultural society, v. 4-6, 1854/57–1860; there are also separate reports of the society for 1854 (8 p.); 1855 (61 p.); 1859 (95 p.); 1860 (86 p.) (These reports are wanting in the Library of Congress) The meeting of 1860 appears to have been the last one held by the earlier society, and shortly after, it was disbanded. In 1865 it was reorganized as Wisconsin state horticultural society; its first proceedings, 1864/68, 1869, were published in Transactions of the Wisconsin state agricultural society, v. 7-8, 1867/68, 1869, and were also separately issued; in 1871 the horticultural society was incorporated, with provision in its charter for the separate publication of its Transactions; the volume for 1870/71 was the first one issued under this provision. The first 6 vols. are not numbered; they correspond to the following years: (v. 1) 1870/71; (v. 2) 1872; (v. 3) 1873; (v. 4) 1874; (v. 5) 1875; (v. 6) 1876; regular numbering begins with v. 7, 1877.

Vols. 40-43 each issued in 2 parts; v. 40, pt. 1; v. 41, pt. 1; v. 42, pt. 2, and v. 43, pt. 2, are Constitution, by-laws, business transactions, etc., for distribution to members; in v. 41, t.-p. is erroneously numbered "vol. XLI, part I" instead of part II.
